EXPERTISE

Research, Publishing, and Presentation Expertise

- Conducted mixed-methods research: Designed and pilot-tested a quantitative instrument based on technology acceptance and innovation diffusion theory. Surveyed graduate-level counselor educators from across U.S. Tested nine (9) hypotheses. Analyzed data using SPSS. Conducted interviews and analyzed themes with NVIVO software.
- Collaborated with co-authors regarding research projects that have been published in scholarly peer-reviewed journals and books. Served as lead author on several research and publishing projects.
- Presented research at international and domestic conferences.
- Peer-reviewed articles for publication in scholarly journals and books.
- Created presentations with 21st Century digital tools

21st Century Globalization-Related Leadership and Collaboration Expertise

- Collaborated with medical doctors, hospital administrators, executive directors, board presidents, and trustees, and board members in role as an executive director
- Developed diversity competence through working on cross-cultural research teams and through counseling people from diverse cultures and marginalized groups
- Designed and developed marketing and public relations materials to promote agencies and private healthcare practice
- Applied communication skills expertise in verbal and written correspondence with medical doctors, attorneys, hospital administrators, and agencies
- Wrote and successfully obtained numerous healthcare-related grants in capacity as an executive director
- Successfully managed a staff of employees and volunteers: Conducted interviews and performance reviews, wrote employee manuals, advocated to enhanced employee benefits and work environment
- Analyzed existing technologies then developed, implemented, and evaluated technology plans
- Collaborated on teams developing, implementing, and evaluating strategic plans
- Honed expertise in negotiating and resolving conflict through experience in managing an agency and through helping couples and families solve problems in capacity as a counselor

Instructional Design / Learning Management Systems / Distance Learning Expertise

- Co-authored a book chapter detailing an adaptable learning theory framework for technology-enhanced learning. Incorporated Community of Inquiry model into the adaptable framework and demonstrated application of learning theory (cognitive presence) Erickson's psychosocial stages (social presence) and constructionism as the instructional theory (teaching presence) to an existing course that uses robotics to teach physics.
- Co-created an online guardianship course hosted on Desire2Learn. Applied Quality Matters as guideline for course development. Based course development on constructionism and adult learning theory.
- Applied ADDIE model to development of a teen relationship education course for a virtual school environment. Planned evidence-based course content and wrote measurable learning objectives for each module. Designed course to include synchronous and asynchronous learning.
- Designed learning activities for an online course using Storyline by Articulate e-authoring software
- Collaborated on group projects and discussions via Blackboard Collaborate, Desire2Learn, and private Facebook discussion groups in distance learning and instructional technology courses. Provided in-depth, value-added, research-based comments.
- Designed a website for a hypothetical career development company applying learning theory and best practices in instructional design
- Developed screencast presentations
- Developed presentations with Prezi, PowToon, PowerPoint, and Adobe Captivate
- Critiqued an existing graduate level online course in regard to ease of navigation, adherence to best practices in instructional design, and functioning of modules and learning activities for each of three course access devices (a computer, a mobile phone, and a digital tablet).
